Keshet Flexible Paid Leave policy expects that all Keshet staff will annually utilize a minimum of the equivalent of 4 weeks paid vacation time, and a maximum of 8 weeks paid vacation time. These hours/days/weeks of vacation time are taken in whatever flexible structure makes sense for each employee, in coordination with their Keshet team to ensure programming, operations and staff are all supported as needed.

- Understand that due to staffing needs, sometimes, not all leave requests can be approved. Advance requests are still subject to the appropriate approval.

Except for those on protected leave (such as state or federal family and medical leave), if an eligible employee is unable to meet the expectations outlined above, Keshet reserves the right to temporarily revoke flexible paid leave. If gross abuse of this leave is observed, disciplinary action may be taken, which may include termination of employment.

It is Keshet's intent to provide its employees the freedom they require to balance the responsibilities of both their work and home lives, thereby maximizing their value to Keshet.

Keshet expects all employees to be engaged and productive, whether working from home or working at Keshet.

There is no tracking of percentage of time at home or in person, rather, Keshet expects that all employees will choose a balance that makes sense for themselves, their families, their specific position/duties and Keshet, and the community connectivity of a thriving and engaged team of co-workers, artists, and educators. If at any time this balance feels off (either from the perspective of the employee, their supervisors, or their co-workers) it is expected that productive communication and collaborative problem solving will take place.
